MHolland

Packaging Line Card

We take packaging personally.

At M. Holland we help our clients take packaging to the next level. Whether rigid or flexible, consumer or industrial, we have the resources, in-depth market insight and materials expertise to ensure your products are packed with performance. And, with over seven decades of experience, we are equipped to meet your specific needs for durability, sustainability and supply chain security.

Our packaging specialists will guide you through material selection and regulatory requirements for a variety of process techniques, including film, blow and injection molding, and extrusion. From multi-barrier film to multi-functional closure systems and custom formulations to additive manufacturing, we're fully committed to providing the best material for your application.
