Rotational Molding Line Card

We take rotational molding personally.

As a trusted member of the rotational molding community, M. Holland is committed to providing quality materials that best suit the process.

Our presence in the category has grown steadily over the past decade, expanding to include multiple options that range from several branded resins to our own Mtegrity® product. Our technical experts possess a deep knowledge of rotational molding, and our grinding capabilities continue to expand across multiple locations.

A History of Strong Partnerships

We take nothing more personally than building and sustaining meaningful partnerships. These connections may begin because of plastics, but they continue because of people. When our partners succeed, so do we. If you are interested in discussing custom partnership opportunities with M.
